

CONTENTS

1	Introduction: Europe in the Age of Post-Truth Politics	1
	Maximilian Conrad and Guðmundur Hálfðanarson
	Part I Post-Truth Politics, Democracy and the Public Sphere
2	Post-Truth, Postmodernism and the Public Sphere	13
	Saul Newman
3	The Context of Fake News, Disinformation, and Manipulation	31
	John Erik Fossum
4	Journalism, Truth and the Restoration of Trust in Democracy: Tracing the EU ‘Fake News’ Strategy	53
	Asimina Michailidou, Elisabeth Eike, and Hans-Jörg Trenz
	Part II Post-Truth Populism and the Disintegration of Europe
5	From Denouncing to Defunding: The Post-Truth Populist Challenge to Public-Service Media	79
	Maximilian Conrad

6	Post-Truth Politics, Brexit, and European Disintegration	103
	Vittorio Orlando
7	“Europe is Christian, or It Is Not Europe”: Post-Truth Politics and Religion in Matteo Salvini’s Tweets	129
	Giulia Evolvi
Part III Mediatisation and Politicisation of Immigration
8	Claiming Authority Over ‘Truths’ and ‘Facts’: Information Risk Campaigns to Prevent Irregular Migration	151
	Verena K. Brändle
9	Facts, Narratives and Migration: Tackling Disinformation at the European and UN Level of Governance	177
	Anna Björk
10	Shedding Light on People’s Social Media Concerns Through Political Party Preference, Media Trust, and Immigration Attitudes	199
	Sanna Malinen, Aki Koivula, Teo Keipi, and Arttu Saarinen
11	In Search for Unexpected Allies? Radical Right Remediation of ‘the 2015 Refugee Crisis’ on Social Media	223
	Gwenaëlle Bauvois and Niko Pyrhönen
Part IV Conclusion
12	Concluding Reflections on Europe in the Age of Post-truth Politics	247
	Guðmundur Hálfðanarson and Maximilian Conrad
	Index	255