

CONTENTS

1	The Future Must Be Met With Humility!	1
1.1	Waiting for a Grand Strategic Shift	1
1.2	“À la Carte World”	3
1.3	The Costs of Exporting Capitalism	6
1.4	New Technologies Will Define the World’s Geopolitical Future	7
1.5	The Crisis of Public Space: The Landmarks Crisis	8
1.6	Not the State or the Market, But the State and the Market	9
	References	10
2	Welcome to the Age of Global Disorder!	13
2.1	“We All Have to Admit We’re in a New World”	13
2.2	“An À la Carte World”	19
2.3	BRICS, a Vector of Multilateralism	28
2.4	Middle Powers: The Startups of Global Evolution	34
2.5	Global South: The Reborn Aspiration for Development	42
2.6	India: “The Heartland of the Global South”	48
2.7	It Is Time for Development, Not Wars!	58
	References	60
3	The Continental Shift	67
3.1	Awareness Has to Translate Into Preparedness	67
3.2	The Developed Must Look in the Mirror! Ruthlessly!	72
3.2.1	The Overconfidence Trap	72

3.2.2	The Death of Development or to Think in Terms of Five Continents and Seven Seas	74
3.2.3	The Great Recession and the Rise of the Asian Emergents	79
3.2.4	Challenges Facing the New Industrial Policy	83
3.3	The New Asian Model of Development	87
3.4	The Winning Language of Money and Profit	95
3.5	“We Should Create a G-20 for the War in Ukraine”	103
	References	110
4	The Reconfiguration of the Public Sphere	117
4.1	Information and Democracy: A Relationship in Crisis	118
4.2	Online Disinformation Warps the Perceptions of Reality	123
4.3	Digital Platforms and the Increased Fragility of News Media	138
4.4	Which Way Forward?	151
	References	154
5	Century-Defining Contest	163
5.1	The Greatest Change Since Gutenberg	163
5.1.1	Hard to Take in the Whole Picture When It Is Just Taking Shape!	163
5.1.2	It Is Hard to Control Something That Evolves So Quickly	166
5.1.3	“The Exponential Gap”	169
5.1.4	The Risks of Ranking New Technological Fields	171
5.1.5	The Lessons of a Comparative Analysis	174
5.1.6	“Surveillance Capitalism”	180
5.2	A Geo-Economic Tsunami	187
5.2.1	“Everything Digital Runs on Semiconductors”	187
5.2.2	The Chinese Assault on Semiconductors	192
5.2.3	A New Industrial Strategy	197
5.3	Rare Earth and Critical Materials: The Overconfidence Trap	204
5.3.1	The Risk of New Energy Dependencies	204
5.3.2	The Race to Identify and Produce the “New Oil”	208
5.3.3	“Safety and Certainty Lie in Variety and Variety Alone”	210
5.3.4	Reaction Decides a Competition’s Winner	214
	References	218

6	“The Virtuous Cycle of Technological Advancement”	227
6.1	“Manufacturing Atrophy”	227
6.2	The Huge Costs of a Long Geopolitical Sleep	233
6.3	“The Battle for Brains”	237
6.4	“Small Yard, High Fence” or “Big Yard and a High Fence”	243
6.5	Evolve or Die	253
6.6	“Those That Lack a Strategic Approach Will Be Left Behind”	261
	References	267
7	“I Hear the Message, But I Lack Faith in It!”	273
7.1	‘The World of Yesterday’	275
7.2	Freedom Was Asserted, But Equality Drifted Away	279
7.3	The Revenge of Culture	281
7.4	The Online Space, the New Arena for Power Struggles	285
7.5	The Great Crisis, the Elite Crisis	287
	References	291
	References	293